A NEWSLETTER FOR THE MEMBERS OF THE ACADEMY GARDEN CLUB OF LENOX

FEBRUARY 2025

Hello Ladies!

This Newsletter is coming directly from me this month as Pat Neri and her husband Bill are getting ready for their move to Peabody MA. Good Luck Pat!

The weather has been extremely cold and not conducive to being out. Hopefully warmer weather is round the corner and that you will be able to make it to our next meeting.

11th February at 6pm

Lenox Community Center

Hostesses: Barb Czelusniak and Colette Lemanski

Program: Paper Flower Making

Presenter: by Deb Carter

The Agenda for our meeting is:

- Approval of Emailed minutes and Treasurers reports (January and February)
- AGC Insurance: The Executive committee recommends that we continue to have the GCFM General Liability Insurance, but that we do not take out the newly offered Directors and Officers Insurance. Our members will vote on this recommendation at our February meeting
- Pollinator Garden update
- March Trips

Our Pollinator Garden designers held a meeting in January and recommended a list of plants for our raised bed. We will provide an update on our progress with the Pollinator Garden at our February meeting.

We have been starting to think about our next trips.

March 5th, Wednesday, visit Smith College Spring Bulb Show. We would leave Lenox at 10am.

March 28th, Friday, The Capital Region Flower & Garden Expo in Troy at the Hudson Valley Community College. Non-refundable tickets can be bought ahead of time on-line for $14 – a discount of $3.

We will need some members willing to drive to these events. We will have lunch out on these two trips.

I noticed that Garden Centers are now selling hardy Primula. Each year I buy these and try to keep them alive until May when I can plant them outside. They are lovely as they come up each Spring. These are some that I have planted in past years.

Best Wishes to you all,
